Volume still worth watching

VN30 performance

The VN30Index posted a recovery session, rising 0.84% to close at 1,980 points. The focus of yesterday's trading session was on Vingroup-related stocks such as VIC and VHM, both of which hit the ceiling price (limit-up), while VRE gained 4.60%. On the other hand, selling pressure persisted in GVR (-1.71%), STB (-1.52%), FPT (-1.26%), and MWG (-1.03%).

VN30 Future chart: Volume still worth watching

Market sentiment turned positive following a breakout session, with the contract closing back above its short-term moving averages - the 10-period and 20-period MAs - an important buy signal.

Although trading volume did not increase, the price signals are sufficient to confirm that the uptrend has returned. The 2,000-point zone will act as strong short-term resistance, so it's advisable to monitor volume-related signals further before increasing position size.

In the upcoming session, the 1,930-1,950 point range stands as strong support. Conversely, the 1,980-2,000 point zone will serve as strong short-term resistance.

Technical strategy

The uptrend has been confirmed in the short term based on price signals from the contract. Therefore, traders may consider reopening Long positions with a moderate-to-low position size.
